By all means, check this tool to fix this problem. I did, and Office was activated without a problem. If the above-mentioned doesn't work, then please post the steps which you need to follow. A: If anyone else is having this problem (Office 2013 ProPlus); here's the direct download link to Microsoft-Office-Activation-Helper-for-Office-2013-64-bit: If you're on Windows 8.1 (or newer, obviously) and you get an error message "There was a problem while trying to verify the MD5 hash or similar hash", just select "Retry" to the point where the error first occurred and hit "OK". A: To make manual activation possible again, follow these steps: Create a file named "a065d2_Key1.xml" (or "a065d2_Key2.xml") in the activation directory by typing this in the command prompt: %windir%\System32\oact.exe (for 32-bit editions) /active:a065d2 /keypath:%windir%\System32\oact.exe %windir%\SysWOW64\oact.exe (for 64-bit editions) /active:a065d2 /keypath:%windir%\SysWOW64\oact.exe Copy the file to the activation directory. Execute "oact.exe /repair" to repair the activation. Try activating the Office program. Then things are working again. Credit goes to @DaulV.
